This program is designed to support the development of cultural competence necessary to teach in multicultural and diverse classrooms through intensive content instruction about Spain and the Spanish education system, the cultures that have defined historic and contemporary Spain, and the Spanish language. Students will have the opportunity to learn about the Spanish educational system by observing in bilingual classrooms and discussing educational issues with Spanish teachers. Cuenca, a well-preserved medieval city honored as a UNESCO World Heritage Site, provides the backdrop for this short-term immersion program. Students will also visit Madrid and Toledo.

Program Dates:

On-campus: May - June
Travel Dates: June 3-13, 2016

Cost:
$3,325

Cost includes: non-refundable application charge; ED course and Spanish language lessons; accommodations in homestay, including 3 meals daily; excursions to Madrid and Toledo; and international health insurance. International airfare, some meals and personal expenses are not included.

Courses:

ED 590 - Special Topics in Teaching and Learning (6 cr)

Spanish language lessons, provided by True Spanish Experience instructors

Apply Now!

studyabroad.ncsu.edu

Rolling admissions through February 15
Scholarships: apply by November 15

Program Contact Information:

Dr. Meghan Manfra
College of Education
mmmanfra@ncsu.edu
919-513-2590